DOUBLE EXPOSURES

A double exposure is a combination of overlaid images with less than full opacity so that all the images can be seen. The examples shown are ones that I have worked on in the past.

PROGRAMS USED:
Adobe Photoshop

04

The double exposure below was created with using the images. A portrait photo and a photo of a landscape with mountains and trees. (This guy took my photo from the first page!) →

PHOTO RESTORATION

Below is an image of a friend's grandfather. On the next page is the original photo. I edited the original to be colorized and I was asked to complete this as a birthday gift.

INSTAGRAM STORY ICONS

For my sister’s travel Instagram account, I designed a set of icons representing various destinations that she had traveled to such as states and countries. We came up with a color palette and used that palette as the background colors for the icons. These icons would be used for her story highlights and would be seen on her page as shown.

PORTRAIT ILLUSTRATIONS

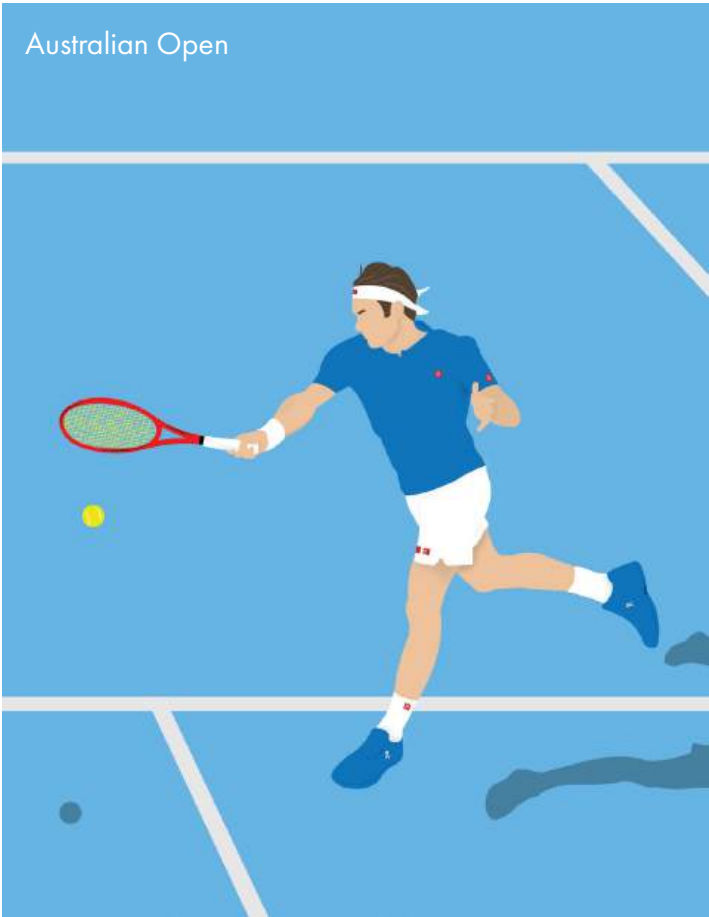

Vector illustrations of real people and fictional characters. These are projects that I like to work on in my free time, and probably the work I enjoy the most.
